

Everyone feels fortunate to have their families at Christmas time. The year's most celebrated holiday on December 25th is important both for homes and churches because it is Christ Jesus birth.

But since seafarers will not always be home during this important celebration which includes spending time with their families, they just make it a point to celebrate this onboard with putting of simple decorations, having programs, picture taking and the Chief Cook, preparing sumptuous food for everybody to share.

The officers and Crew of MV Deep Seas and MV Friendly Seas made their Christmas day a celebration of fun even if they are at sea.

Their photographs above shows that even at sea, they can celebrate Christmas happily.
